IN THE HIGH COURT OF PUNJAB AND HARYANA AT CHANDIGARH

CR No. 6749 of 2006
Date of Decision: 18.12.2006

Ajmer Singh ...Petitioner

Versus

Chand Singh ....Respondent

Coram: Hon'ble Mr. Justice Hemant Gupta.

Present: Shri Lalit Pathak, Advocate, for the petitioner.

HEMANT GUPTA, J.

The challenge in the present revision petition is to the order passed by the learned trial Court on 2.8.2006, whereby the learned trial Court has passed an order of sale of the immovable property of the petitioner.

Learned counsel for the petitioner states that sale of attached truck would be sufficient to satisfy the decree and there will be no necessity to put the attached land on sale. It is further pointed out that if there is any deficiency after the sale of the truck, the petitioner shall make good the same.

In view of the above, it shall be open to the petitioner to move an appropriate application for sale of the truck before the Executing Court within one month from today. If such an application is filed, the learned Executing Court shall take steps for the sale of the truck in satisfaction of the decretal amount. Till such time, the truck is sold, the sale of the immovable property of the petitioner shall not be confirmed by the Executing Court.

Civil revision is disposed of in the above terms.
